

A Bridgeport Story

This is a fictional story. Dr. Herman Webster, a psychiatrist, uses hypnosis to get deep inside his patients minds. A teenager happens to stumble into the doctors life. This teen had just been severely traumatized, and while the doctor is trying to find out what happened to the teen, he finds out his girlfriend is having an affair. This knowledge sends the doctor over the deep end, sending him on a murdering spree, keeping himself innocent by hypnotizing people to do his dirty work. When the police find out he is behind the murders, the doctor goes after them, too. Although this is a fictional story, all the places are real places in Bridgeport, Connecticut.
